

GMO RESOURCES FUND

THE OPPORTUNITY

- Long-term supply and demand dynamics in natural resource markets favor upward price trends – demand growth is being driven by population growth and the development of emerging markets, while supplies of cheap, easy to access natural resources are declining.
- Resource equities have a long-term record of strong performance and have historically traded at a discount to broader global equities.
- Resource equities have performed well historically during inflationary periods.
- Diversification is among the most compelling arguments for investing in resource equities due to their low-to-negative correlations with the broad equity market over the medium and long term.
- Resource equities are particularly inefficient and provide investors with significant alpha opportunities.

OUR APPROACH

Targeted Universe Definition: We identify businesses that will benefit from a broad rise in resource prices (e.g., refiners, paper companies, etc.).

Resource Diversification: We diversify across resource segments and take a holistic view of the opportunity set, including the opportunity in clean energy.

Value Focus: Our proprietary valuation model has been effective in the resources sector. The success of our strategy does not depend on forecasting commodity prices.

Global Scope & Lack of Size Bias: We will invest across the capitalization spectrum and in opportunities from around the globe.

Investing with Conviction: GMO's firmwide philosophy of investing with conviction over the long-term is consistent with success in the resources sector.

ESG: Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) factors are integrated holistically into our investment process.

Risks associated with investing in the Fund may include: (1) Focused Investment Risk: The Fund invests its assets in the securities of a limited number of issuers, and a decline in the market price of a particular security held by the Fund may affect the Fund's performance more than if the Fund invested in the securities of a larger number of issuers. (2) Commodities Risk: Commodity prices can be extremely volatile, and exposure to commodities can cause the value of the Fund's shares to decline or fluctuate more than if the Fund had a broader range of investments. (3) Market Risk - Equities: The market price of an equity may decline due to factors affecting the issuer or its industry or the economy and equity markets generally. Declines in stock market prices generally are likely to reduce the net asset value of the Fund's shares. For a more complete discussion of these risks and others, please consult the Fund's prospectus.
